

Supplementary Figure S1. Diagram of the sample and variant filtering process. The figure outlines the steps and parameters used to filter samples and short variants for the identification of potentially deleterious pharmacogenomic variants. Red indicates the number of samples, while blue represents the number of variants.